

Liz Weber

Biography

In the words of one client, "Liz Weber will help you see opportunities you never knew existed."

A sought-after consultant, speaker, and seminar/workshop presenter, Liz is known for her candor, insights, and her ability to make the complex "easy." She creates clarity for her audiences during her results-oriented presentations and training sessions. Participants walk away from her sessions knowing how to implement the ideas she's shared not just once, but over and over to ensure continuous improvement and management growth and development.

Known as The Dragon Lady of Leadership Accountability™, Liz has been there, done it, and learned from it. Whether speaking to corporate executives or government professionals, Liz's comments and insights on leadership and leadership accountability ring true.

As the CEO of Weber Business Services, LLC, a management consulting, training, and speaking firm headquartered near Harrisburg, PA, Liz and her team of consultants provide strategic and succession planning, executive coaching, and leadership development training.

Liz has supervised business activities in 139 countries and has consulted with organizations in over 20 countries. She has designed and facilitated conferences from Bangkok to Bonn and Tokyo to Tunis. Liz has taught for the Johns Hopkins University's Graduate School of Continuing Studies, as well as the Georgetown University's Senior Executive Leadership Program.

Liz is the author of Leading From the Manager's Corner, and Don't Let 'Em Treat You Like a Girl - A Woman's Guide to Leadership Success (Tips from the Guys). Her latest book: Nuts & Bolts on Business is an anthology of success tips and features insights by leading management strategists Dr. Dennis Whaitley and Jim Cathcart. Liz's Manager's Corner column appears monthly in several trade publications, association newsletters, and internet resource centers for executives.
